

Bradley Lamitie
Project Proposal

AES Image Encryption

My idea would be to create a web app that uses AES to encrypt an image. The user would be able to choose a key, and submit an image. The program will encrypt each pixel's hex value changing the color and scrambling the image. The user can then download the image and send it. The recipient can enter the key and the encrypted image to decrypt it and restore the image.